Marie Prescott's Trouble.

New York special in Chicago Tribune: Marie Prescott, who is suing the American News Company for $20,000 damages for circulating a dramatic paper containing an alleged libelous article on herself, came into this court this forenoon wearing a nobby suit and looking very determined. The room was filled with men, all anxious to get at every morsel of scandal that the case develops.

Ernest Harvier was the first witness, and he took his seat with an uneasy attempt at self-possession, the plaintiff adjusting her eyeglasses and gazing steadfastly on him. Miss Prescott's attorney asked Harvier whether he was acquainted with S. J. Tilden, to which he replied he knew him as a fellow-citizen. He had spoken to him several times. The witness was asked if he had laid before Mr. Tilden some great scheme for "working" the press of this country, by which he was able to make or unmake any person, to which he replied that he had not, and never had any such "system."

A letter was produced at this point, dated New York, February 22, 1881, addressed to Marie E. Prescott, and signed by Ernest Harvier. The witness having admitted that he wrote it, proceeded to read portions of it. Among other things the writer said:

"I once told Gov. Tilden of my system of press management and, of how I had the press throughout the country permanently organized to do certain things. He seemed pleased, and said: 'Can you benefit anybody you please?' 'Certainly,' said I. 'Then,' said the Governor, 'my boy [great laughter] your system is only half complete. It will not be finished until you can do another thing—organize the same papers to write the same people down.'—and the Governor was right. [Renewed laughter.] This happened nearly seven years ago when I was a mere boy, writing editorials for his (Mr. Tilden's) paper—the World. * * * It is a very cold day when I get left. * * * Perhaps I am deeper than you think. You must either abandon your professional career or postpone your domestic happiness."

The reading of the letter caused frequent outbursts of laughter, in which the plaintiff joined heartily. The witness testified that he wrote editorials for the New York World five or six years ago. He claimed that he had been laboring for five years to cover up and keep back the facts that had been brought out on this trial. He desired to conceal the facts in the interest of the plaintiff.

"You wrote that article in Nym Crinkle for that purpose, did you?"

"Yes, sir."

Harvier then related how he had gone into a theatrical venture with Miss Prescott, and come to grief in Cincinnati. This was in the fall of 1880. When he parted company with her on the bridge between Cincinnati and Covington, he had to talk with her about her being soon to become a mother. When she came to New York, he said, and went to No. 287 Fifth avenue to live, she was sick.

The recital of these incidents caused Miss Prescott to blush and utter angry protests to her counsel.

Mr. Harvier went on to say, when asked, that he had never threatened to ruin Miss Prescott, because he couldn't ruin her; he might have indulged in some apprehensions as to her future if she kept on as she was going. Witness, instead of trying to injure Miss Prescott, had offered to pay the expenses of the suit if she would withdraw her complaint, as he did not wish to be compelled to tell what he knew about her.

Something of a sensation was produced when the housekeeper of No. 287 Fifth avenue—a Mrs. Bontain—testified that when Miss Prescott was sick there Mr. Perzel was with her nearly every evening, always until 10 o'clock, and frequently later. The landlady of the same place—Mrs. Crawford testified that she had requested Miss Prescott to leave the house because she didn't like to have actresses about, and furthermore—here she said she did not like to give her other reason, but when informed that she must reply said because a friend of hers had said it was quite enough to know of the character of any lady if she received visits from Mr. Perzel.

Havier's office boy testified that he had carried cords of letters to Miss Prescott, and that whenever she called at Havier's office he was requested to take a walk.

Miss Prescott's husband, Mr. William Pertzel, testified that they occupied a flat together in 1881, when they were engaged, "sharing the expenses," but since they had married.

A clerk in the health office testified that he had searched the records, but could find no record of the marriage.

After testimony to prove Harvier's reputation to be bad, etc., the case was adjourned until to-morrow.

Dead Jurors.

Paris Kentuckian.

Of the jury that sat in the celebrated Ward trial, eleven of them are dead, and Charles McIntyre, the last juror is dangerously ill.—Elizabethtown News.

For our young readers we add that this trial was in 1854—28 years ago. Matt Ward killed Prof. Butler, teacher, of Louisville, for whipping his brother, and his acquittal created great excitement. Ward was killed during the war by mistake by his own Confederates. One of Ward's counsel was Nat. Wolfe, one of the ablest criminal lawyers in the West, who was greatly censured by the press for instrumentality in procuring acquittal of a man who had, as they said, been guilty of such a foul murder. Among the editors who bitterly denounced Ward and the jury acquitting him, was Col. Sam Pike, who was then publishing the Kentucky State Flag in Paris. A short time after Ward's acquittal, he in company with some Louisville friends passed through Paris enroute for Blue Lick Springs, a notice of which appeared in Col. Pike's paper as follows:

"Matt Ward, the great unhung, passed through our town yesterday, but we being a law-abiding people, permitted him to go undisturbed."

This paragraph gave great offense to Ward's friends, among them a Mr. Flournoy, of Arkansas, a relative of Ward's, who was visiting in this section. Flournoy and Pike happened to be in the same railway coach to go to Lexington one morning and Flournoy, it is said, would have attacked Colonel Pike before the train left, but was prevented from so doing by the intervention of Hon. Garrett Davis. Arriving at Lexington the parties met in a crowd in front of the "Statesman" office, when Flournoy approaching the Colonel, asked:

"Is your name Pike?" "Yes sir," answered Colonel P., with a bland smile and polite bow. Editor of a paper called the Flag down yonder in Paris?" "The same," answered Colonel P. At this Flournoy with a heavy cane made a blow at Pike's head, but the stroke was warded off by B. B. Taylor, editor of the Statesman. For a time the wildest confusion ensued, and a great crowd gathered, when Colonel Pike was taken into the Statesman office, where, with Flournoy and other friends of Ward, at whose dictation an article was written and signed by Colonel Pike to the effect that he would let the Matt Ward affair drop. But when Col. Pike returned to Paris he dipped his pen in gall, and was severer than ever, justifying himself by the plea that he was not in honor bound to keep a promise made through compulsion, belaboring Flournoy unmercifully, and describing him as the ugliest man he ever saw.

In 1770, or thereabout, the tomato was almost unknown in Paris. To the Southern French who invaded France at the time of the revolution its acclimatization is due. It was a costly luxury at first, but at the end, of 1803 it was sold at Les Halles (according to the Almanach des Gourmands) by the half dozen.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

FRIDAY EVENING, OCT. 20, 1882.

TERMS:—The EVENING BULLETIN is published daily, and served free of postage at 6 cents per week; 25 cents per month; 75 cents per three months; $1.50 per six months, and $3 per year, payable in advance.

THE EVENING BULLETIN HAS A LARGER CIRCULATION IN THIS CITY, CHESTER AND ABERDEEN, OHIO, THAN ANY OTHER PAPER PUBLISHED IN MAYSVILLE.

Public Speaking.

The Hon. John G. Carlisle will address the people of this city and county at the court house in Maysville, on Thursday evening, October 26th, at 7 o'clock. Everybody is invited to come and hear this distinguished Democrat.

Rowan county is to vote on local option at the November election.

The Democrats of New York are betting on fifty thousand majority.

Scott claims to be the banner county of the Burley district of Kentucky, but precisely what the claim is based upon is not stated. It is certainly not the quality of the tobacco grown there.

The Democracy of Indiana feel greatly encouraged over the result in Ohio and will keep up the fight with renewed vigor and with every prospect of a brilliant success. The Republicans are committed to the prohibition amendment to the constitution and will be swamped by it.

The Washington "Post" publishes a number of affidavits, occupying a large space, to show that "several of the jurymen in the late Star Route trial were corruptly approached by employees of the Department of Justice, and that these employees regularly reported their proceedings from day to day to the department or some officer thereof." The affidavits are made by Wm. Knox Brown, (jurymen,) James A. Nelson, Thos. R. Foote, Wm. R. Laws, Wm. Holmead, (jurymen,) Edward Taylor (agent of the Department of Justice,) and Dickson, the foreman of the Star Route jury. The affidavits affect Fall, Bowen and Brewster Cameron.

CINCINNATI DAILY NEWS.

The First Issue of the New Democratic Paper Soon to Appear.

Cincinnati Gazette.

As if starting into life, hatched out by the late Democratic victory in this state, the new daily paper, to be of strong Democratic principles, which has been talked of for nearly a year, opened its books for subscriptions yesterday, and the first issue is promised before the end of November. Some months ago, shortly after the incorporation of the "Cincinnati Publishing Company" to publish a daily paper in this city, a sufficient amount of certificates of stock were at once taken and paid for by such men as Judge Hoadly, Alexander Long, and Edgar M. Johnson, to buy presses and make other necessary purchases. Ex-Lieut. Gov. Underwood, of Kentucky, who is to be General Manager of the new journal, then went to New York and contracted for two Hoe presses, but the manufacturers were so far behind in their work that the first appearance of the News has been unavoidably delayed. The office of the News is to be in the Os-kamp building, at the corner of Race and Longworth streets. The editorial rooms are to be on the second and third floors, there being ample room for a full staff. The composing room is to be on the second floor in the large room over the billiard saloon. The business office is to be at No. 204 Race street, one door from Longworth. The greater portion of the outfit, consisting of types, cases, galleys, etc., are already in the office, ready for use. One of the two presses ordered is to be shipped to-morrow or Monday, and will arrive next week. The capacity of this press, when worked at full speed, will be 24,000 folios an hour. The paper is to be on the order of the New York Sun, four pages, and will aim to give the news in as brief a space and as lively and interesting style as possible, though it will not have much room for gush. Its size is to be larger than the Sun, nearer that of the Philadelphia Times, one of the handsomest sheets in the country, and the type of the News is also to be modeled after the Times. The News is to sell at three cents, probably, or eighteen cents a week. Its politics, as before stated, is to be that of a true, Jeffersonian Democrat. Gov. Underwood, who is to take editorial charge of the News, was some years ago owner of the Bowling Green, Ky., Intelligencer, after which he took charge of the Louisville Evening Post, into which the Intelligencer was merged. He was connected with the Post until about a year ago, when he was invited by a number of prominent citizens of this city, who thought there was room for a cheap Democratic paper here, to edit such a paper. Since he has been in New York, the Governor has been through Kentucky in the interest of the paper, and he is confident it will start out with a fine rapidly growing list all over the blue grass state. Among the incorporators are a number of very prominent Kentuckians, who will doubtless assist the paper with their influence—W. C. P. Breckinridge and M. C. Johnson, of Lexington; Cassius M. Clay, Jr., Judge J. M. Atherton. Of his his prospects with the Democracy of Ohio, Gov. Underwood is also very confident. The editorial staff of the paper has as yet been only partially engaged. The greater part of the force will probably be composed of local writers, but Kentucky talent also will probably be called into requisition.

SIMON CAMERON believes that the Democrats will gain several members of congress from Pennsylvania and that the next House of Representatives will be largely Democratic.

ARAB BEY has been allowed counsel in his trial which will begin in Cairo on Monday next, and has selected Hon. Mark Francis Napier. Just who the Hon. Mark Francis is, is not stated, but he will lack neither materials nor opportunity for a great defense.

The Republicans are fighting some hard battles in the various states just now, but there seems to be no call for the distinguished services of A. W. Dorsey, although he is still Secretary of the Republican National Committee. Even Mahone cannot find any use for him and Mahone is not making his fight on high moral grounds either.

AMERICA DAVIS, colored, was arrested on Thursday by Marshal Fitzgerald on the charge of chicken stealing.

REV. G. T. GOULD will fill the pulpit for Rev. M. D. Reynolds, at M. E. church, South, next Sunday. Mr. Gould at 7 1/2 p. m., will repeat, by request, his sermon on "The cause and unreasonableness of infidelity."

THE Ashland Independent says:

Mr. Con. Phister, chief clerk of the Telegraph in the Pomeroy and Big Sandy Packet Company, has purchased an interest in a saw mill at Maysville, Ky., and will retire from the river. We shall regret to have him leave the White Collar Line, as will the traveling public, for a better clerk or a more thorough gentleman never held a position on any steamboat. Success to him, say we, in whatever undertaking he embarks.

MR. JOHN B. GIBSON was married in East Maysville Thursday evening to Mrs. Sue H. Eason, the ceremony being performed by Rev. M. D. Reynolds, of the M. E. Church, South. A number of the friends of the bride and groom were present and witnessed the ceremony. The BULLETIN offers its congratulations.

CHASE BROOKS, a weak-minded negro boy was arrested yesterday on a serious charge—detaining a little girl, the daughter of a gentleman living in the lower part of the city. A passer by saw the negro and the little girl together and interfered in time to prevent the devilish deed contemplated. The matter is being investigated by the grand jury to-day.

For the present the religious services of the Presbyterian congregation (South) will be discontinued at the Washington Hall. All other services will be held regularly at the church. Prayer meeting every Wednesday evening at seven o'clock. Sunday School at half past two o'clock, preaching every alternate Sabbath, beginning October 29th. All persons are earnestly invited to attend these services.

A SPECIAL despatch to the Courier-Journal from Frankfort says:

The mandate of the Court of Appeals regarding the new trials of Craft and Neal was sent to the Boyd Circuit Court yesterday. From Col. Van Young, of Owingsville, who is in this city to-day, it is learned that the feeling in Boyd and the surrounding counties is intense against these prisoners, who Mr. Young believes, will surely be hung by a mob unless protected by a sufficient force of the State Guards. The Governor said this morning that he had received no request for troops from Judge Brown yet, still an unusual preparation for departure is now being made in the ranks of the McCleary Guards, who expect to proceed to the front Monday as part of the Third battalion, the whole of which, it is believed, will be necessary to preserve the honor of the State.

Examining Trial of George Cooper for Killing George Insko.

Willis Insko was recalled and testified: I saw the shooting. George Cooper fired the pistol. I identify the prisoner as the party who killed my brother.

Cordry Ellis was next sworn and said: I live near Minerva. Know George Cooper when I see him. Was at the fair Thursday and Saturday. Saw Insko on Thursday but don't recollect seeing Cooper that day. Saw both parties Saturday. Didn't see Cooper till the shooting. Was with my wife going round the promenade. Insko and party were behind us. Don't know whether they were standing still or following behind us. I passed Cooper and in a few minutes heard the firing. Heard no words. Turned when I heard the shot and saw Insko lying on the promenade. Saw pistol in some one's hand. Was but a few steps from where shooting took place. Didn't see who fired shot. Can't say that I saw who fired it. There were several standing round. Couldn't say who had pistol. Saw Insko half hour after in floral hall. He was dead.

John Harmon was next sworn and said: Live in Bracken county near Germantown. Have known prisoner all his life. Saw him at the fair Thursday. Am the owner of a pistol. It is a Smith & Wesson, 38 calibre, five shooter. It was loaded when I last saw it. Prisoner tried to borrow it from me about a month ago. (Pistol that shooting was done with was here produced and identified by witness. It had two shells and three cartridges in chambers of cylinder.)

W. L. Moran testified: Heard first shot and saw a man fall. Was on opposite side of promenade. Crossed the ring and went up to where shooting took place. Insko was lying on promenade. Cooper and wife were going down steps. I passed Willis Insko on the steps. He had a pistol in his hand. The pistol produced here looks like the one he had. When I next saw Cooper he was near dining hall. He was bleeding. He seemed to be intoxicated.

Dudley Jones: Live in Bracken county, 23 years old. Don't know either parties. Didn't see shooting. Heard it and turned at second shot. Saw a man down on promenade. I was at first step starting down to go home. The body was lying on promenade back of me. Heard no words. Was six or seven feet from the man who was killed.

Cross examined: There was a great deal of tramping on the promenade, caused considerable noise, shots were close together, could count about 3 between firing.

W. D. Hixson: Was at the fair Saturday, didn't see shooting—saw the remains in Floral Hall, was called on to write out the result of inquest.

Ben Wood: Live at Fern Leaf, am constable in that precinct, know both parties, didn't see shooting. Helped dress Insko at the Floral Hall. Found a trunk-key, shoe-buttoner, lady's kid glove and some money on remains. This was about an hour and a half after the shooting.

George Collins: Live in Bracken county, slightly acquainted with both parties, saw second shot, was standing about 8 feet from them, saw Insko fall. Cooper was standing over him when second shot was fired, Cooper then fell over Insko—can't say what caused him to fall, saw some man then scuffling with Cooper. Some woman had hold of them—didn't recognize Willis Insko—have known Willis and George Insko for several years—didn't notice particularly who was present.

Court adjourned until Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Uncle Tom's Cabin.

The Boston Double Uncle Tom's Cabin Company will appear at Washington Opera House on Monday evening the 23d inst., and will present attractions, it is claimed, no other show of the kind can offer. Trained bloodhounds, educated donkeys, and other features are points of interest. The Cincinnati Enquirer says:

The Mammoth Boston Double Uncle Tom's Company took Cincinnati with a rush. The parade on the street yesterday with the donkeys, bloodhounds, and some of the principal people, attracted a great deal of attention, and is another evidence that the management understand bringing the merits of the troupe before the people. They opened at the Grand last night before a crowded house. There is little of old or stale in the play. It comes in new dress, with all the important features doubled and improved. Taken all in all, it is the best Uncle Tom Company that has visited Cincinnati. The donkeys and the bloodhounds are novel and attractive additions. The piece is put on in the best of style. The transformation scene is a grand spectacle. The company is strong in all the leading parts. The two topseys and Eva won the praise of the audience. The Lawyers and other people are all good in their characters. The Jubilee Singers are among the best which have visited Cincinnati. The audience showed its appreciation by frequent applause and a fair use of handkerchiefs in the more touching scenes.

George Cooper Indicted by the Grand Jury for Murder in the first Degree.

The grand jury this morning, after considering the case of George Cooper, charged with killing George Insko, at the Germantown fair grounds last Saturday, reported an indictment for murder in the first degree. The examining trial before the magistrates is still in progress.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Rev. M. D. Reynolds, will leave to-day for Shelby county, on a visit to his mother. He will be absent for several days.

Mrs. Kate Peckham, of Lafayette, Ind., and Mrs. L. Hubbard, of Dayton, O., are the guests of the family of Mr. J. C. Lovel.

Mr. W. T. Woodward, of Germantown, a subscriber to the BULLETIN of twenty years standing, favored us with a call to-day.

The following marriage licenses have been issued in Brown county, Ohio, since our last report:

Phillip B. Owens and Menerva E. Swigg.
L. E. Brown and Flora Belle Berry.
Arthur P. Kellum and Mollie Hawk.
John I. Benner and Lucy A. Henry.
George Ballenger and Mary E. Kirk.

At Albany, N. Y., Mrs. Louisa M. Rosenberg, wife of a clothing dealer, was found hanging by the neck to a beam in the woodshed. Cause of the suicide, nervous disease and temporary derangement.

Henry Gridley, proprietor of the finest hotel in Norwich, Conn., advertises he will demolish his building next April in consequence of the no-license vote of the town, compelling him to close his bar.

An Ottawa telegram states the keeper of the light-house on Lonely Island has been called on to explain his conduct in connection with the alleged robbery of the body of a victim of the Asia disaster.

The excavations for a lock on a canal which is being made near Mons, in Belgium, have brought to light the bed of an ancient river, in which have been found bones of mammoths and other animals.

The last vestiges of old Bordeaux are fast disappearing. The making of the new road called Le Cours d'Alsace-Lorraine has caused the destruction of many houses of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries.

Mrs. William Ludden, bedridden for years at Brandon, Vt., was taken in hand by a praying band. She soon felt a "prickling and somewhat painful sensation" along her spine, and before the meeting closed was able to walk.

The tenth annual session of the Carriage Builders' National Association began at Philadelphia, Wednesday. The report of the Executive committee showed that the association has a membership of 537, being an increase of seventy during the last year and that the progress of trade during the year has been very gratifying.

Mr. Gladstone is an able man. He delivers brilliant speeches, reads Greek like English, and is one of the best scholars alive. But at the same time he jumps around and howls like an illiterate plumber when, in kicking on a tight boot, a hole in the toe of his stocking causes that valuable article to shoot way back around his ankle.

The American Screw company compels every employe in its factory, in Providence to give two weeks' notice of quitting work, the forfeit being one week's wages; but the employe has no such protection against sudden discharge. Louisa Riebe went away without the stipulated formality, and when refused her pay, punished the foreman severely with a horse-whip.

The largest steel spring ever made in the world has just been successfully rolled at Kroman's steel works, Pittsburg, for the United States Car Motor company, of Philadelphia. It is three hundred and ten feet long, six inches wide and one-quarter of an inch thick. It will be tempered and coiled by the Motor company at their works in Philadelphia, and exhibited in the bi-centennial parade.

PUBLIC SALE

—OF—

310 ACRES of No. 1. LAND.

I will sell at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, OCT. 24, 1882.

On the premises, my HOME FARM, containing about 250 Acres, situated three miles north of Millersburg, on the public road from that town to headquarters, in Nicholas county. About 80 acres are well timbered and set in grass, and near one half of the cleared portion is also well grassed. It has on it one of the largest and most substantial two-story stone dwellings in the county, with nine rooms, hall and dry cellar under the entire building, all usual outbuildings including Tobacco Barn 60 Feet Square.

About 100 bearing trees of select fruit, and an abundance of never failing water.
Also at the same time and place about 60 Acres adjoining the west side of the above tract, next to Hooktown and fronting on Cynthia and Carlisle pike. All of this tract is cleared land with the exception of a few acres, both tracts are first-class lands, red soil, cane ridge character of land, and fully 200 acres are excellent tobacco land. Possession will be given of all the premises at once, except the dwelling and other buildings and 35 acres of the Hooktown tract. Sale to begin at 10 o'clock a. m., when the terms, which will be liberal, will be proclaimed.

Chasing a Lion in South Africa.

During the night lions have been prowling about and keeping up a hideous roaring, so I hurry away in front with the prospect of meeting one strolling home in the gray light of the early hours. The air is raw and cold, so I march at the double-quick and recklessly thrust my hands to the bottom of my pockets in the happy consciousness of not being in Regent street. My two usual attendants in my hunting expeditions have considerably shriveled up, and have developed an ashy complexion unpleasant to behold, and they slink around shivering with the cold and doubtless envying me my pockets.

We soon get a considerable distance ahead of the caravan, and begin to keep a sharp look out for game. Several herds are described at a distance; but, not caring to go far out of the way, we leave these unmolested. Matters, however, do not become more promising, and we begin to conclude there is to be no sport this morning. Just as that thought shapes itself down sinks the guide in a crouching position, while he excitedly whispers: "A lion! a lion!" Instinctively we follow his example. After a hurried glance at my rifle I cautiously raise my head. Looking in the direction indicated by the guide I am mortified at seeing a fine lion leisurely bounding away through the long grass. Rising erect I fire precipitately. The lion, unharmed, simply pauses for a momentary stare and then continues its course. Grinding out an expression of intense vexation, and yielding to the impulse of the moment, I rush after the animal in hot haste. My servants, less eager and more wise than I, remain where they were. It never occurs to me that I have only the remaining cartridge of my double-barreled rifle for a possible encounter with the enemy.

The movements of the lion can only be traced by the shaking of the grass, and with eye intently fixed on that I dash on pell-mell, tripping, stumbling and gasping for breath, while my heart palpitates with the excitement of the chase. We thus keep up the race for about 300 yards, when all at once the shaking of the grass ceases, reminding me that I must proceed with much more caution lest I rush abruptly into the fervent embraces of his leonine highness—a consummation most devoutly to be deprecated, seeing I have no ambition for the world's reprobation and a warning epitaph. Moving on very stealthily for some time I suddenly emerge into an open space, and as suddenly halt transfixed; for there stands the lion at a distance of a little more than fifteen yards, with its side toward me, and evidently awaiting my approach. The momentary shock gives place instantly to a strange feeling of exultation. With such a splendid opportunity for a shot I am sure of my game! Mentally, as by a flash, I picture myself exhibiting the trophies of the encounter to an admiring troop of friends. I level my gun, and bang! it goes: To my infinite mortification, and, as I think, against all the laws of reason, there is neither the grand death-spring nor the last tragic roar. Unwounded and undaunted, there stands my dangerous antagonist, "staring upon the hunter!" It takes one or two seconds to let the grim realities of the situation dawn upon my imagination. Only too evidently are the tables turned upon me. I have no ammunition, and I dare not flee. To "fix" him with my eye unfortunately does not occur to me as practicable. On the contrary, I have a very distinct consciousness that he has "fixed" me, and that I should not be ungrateful for some convenient tree from which I might try the fascination of the human gaze. Thus for a little space, which to me seemed hours, we stand face to face. The lion seems uncertain what to do, but finally resolves to treat me with contempt. Turning with dignity, he gives one or two powerful bounds and disappears in the jungle, while I, limp and be-draggled, return to my men.—Good Words.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.
ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ringbone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours,
P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great.
Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO. Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. j27d.
